

ART GRADUATE

MISS BERTHA LEE MAYS, of this city.

Society

Marrying and giving in marriage crowded the social calendar last week, and there were many prominent and interesting ceremonies, both in town and country, and the coming week will note a similar number of functions. Almost all of the entertaining done just now is in honor of brides and bridesmaids, and suppers and dinners at the clubs take the form of farewell bachelor affairs, and there is to be little else going on until well into the middle of the month.

Two big affairs will take place this week. On Thursday the Country Club of Virginia entertains at its annual lawn fête from 5 to 8 o'clock, to be preceded by the usual horse show of the hunting members at 4:30 that afternoon. Smart motors, pink coats and handsomely groomed women and girls will make the affair a very brilliant one, lending bright touches of color to the clubhouse and grounds in honor of the large membership of the club, invitations can only be issued to out-of-town guests of members. Hundreds of people will attend, and there will be music and dancing until 11 in the evening.

The Richmond Chapter of the University of Virginia Alumni Association will give a garden party on the lawn at the Commonwealth Club on Saturday. A large number of alumni from all parts of the country will be in Richmond on that day, and will be present at this function. Many interesting and distinguished guests will be entertained, and the affair will be one of the handsomest of the early summer season.

This week will mark the departure of any number of prominent people from Richmond to attend the big balls and dances, with which most of the schools and colleges throughout the State will close for the year. Brilliant and large affairs will take place at the University of Virginia, and several house parties are to be entertained at fraternity houses for the occasion. A great many class reunions are to be held there at this time, and prominent men from all over the country will be present.

At V. M. I. and Washington and Lee University, in Lexington, the usual big dances and hops will be given, and the favors and programs for the Germans and balls this year are unusually elaborate.

Approaching Wedding.
An interesting wedding of this month is to be that of Miss Katherine Ewing Eames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Ewing-Eames, and granddaughter of Mrs. James Hayes, to Robert Coleman Walker, also of this city, son of the late William James Walker. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's grandmother, 817 Floyd Avenue, on the evening of Monday, June 10, and only the immediate families will be present. A reception will follow the ceremony at 9 o'clock, and invitations to this have been limited to relatives and intimate friends. Miss Elizabeth Travers Eames will be her sister's maid of honor, and Mr. Walker will have as his best man Clinton G. Davis, of New York.

Mr. Walker and his bride are going abroad for the honeymoon, and will later make their home in Cambridge, Mass.

At the Woman's Club.
The second of the series of informal musicales to be given before the late summer season at the Woman's Club will take place to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the club parlors. Mrs. J. C. Arthur Leffroy is chairman of the affair, and a charming program has been arranged. Decorations will be in June roses, and tea will be served following the musicale.

Interesting Entertainment.
An interesting entertainment was given on Wednesday afternoon at the past week, when the Branch R. Allen Auxiliary tendered an ice cream feast to the patients of the Virginia Home for Incurables. Mrs. David Simpson was chairman of the affair, and was assisted by the following committee: Mrs. T. E. Swain, Mrs. T. M. Cullenworth, Mrs. J. T. Wilson and Mrs. Mrs. Stafford G. Whittle, of Colonel James David Johnston, son of the late J. D. Johnston, of Giles County, which was celebrated in Christ Episcopal Church in Martinsville at half-after 8 o'clock. The church, which was decorated in rhododendron, mountain laurel and many burning tapers, was thronged with a large number of distinguished guests to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Alfred W. Anson, rector. The windows along the aisles were banked with pink sweet peas and roses, marked the family pew. Mrs. J. C. Kearfoot played the wedding marches, and Schubert's "Serenade" very softly during the ceremony.

Judge Whittle gave his daughter away. Her bridal gown was a lovely affair, fashioned of soft white satin and princess lace, and made with a court train of white satin brocade. She wore a tulle veil with a wreath of orange blossoms and a diamond necklace and a brooch of pearls and diamonds. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley, and gardenias. Immediately preceding the bride and her father to the altar was little Miss Ruth Carter, who acted as flower girl. She wore a quaint little dress of white satin and lace made empire style and very long, and carried a gift basket of pink snapdragons. John Izard, of Roanoke, nephew of the groom, was best man. The bride's sister, Miss Flora Whittle, who was maid of honor, wore a gown of palest pink chambray finished with real lace, and carried an armful of Killarney roses.

The bridesmaids wore French knots of shadow lace and brocade in pastel shades and their bouquets were showers of sweet peas to match their frocks. They were: Misses Mona Whittle, of Norfolk; Ruth Redd, of Roanoke; Martha Hughes, of Ashland; in lavender; Mary Green, of Martinsville; in green; Nan Wharton, of Texas; in green; Rochet Dupuy, of Martinsville; in pink; and Miss Alice Izard and Grace Anson, in yellow. Messrs. M. A. Wingfield, of Norfolk; R. Allen Brown, of Parisburg; Dr. E. P. McGovock, of Richmond; Judge

James Strother, of West Virginia; Alec B. Mahood, of Bluefield, W. Va.; Dr. H. G. Johnston, of Parisburg; Henry D. Whittle, of Tennessee; Stafford G. Whittle and H. C. Whittle, of Martinsville, were groomsmen, and the ushers included E. B. Walker, of Shenandoah; N. Y. R. C. Calvert, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Thom Rothrock, of Tennessee; and John Smith, of Martinsville.

For the reception, which followed the ceremony, at the home of Judge and Mrs. Whittle, decorations were in roses, Southern smilax and rhododendron. Garlands of flowers were hung over the doorways and windows, and the bridal party received the guests in the drawing-room, which was banked with pink roses and lighted with candles. Colonel and Mrs. Johnston left on a special train for Roanoke later in the evening, and are now in Atlantic City, before sailing June 12, on board the steamship Saxonia for an extended honeymoon abroad. They will be at home after September 15 in Roanoke, where the groom has an extensive law practice. Some of the guests from a distance attending the wedding last night were: Mrs. A. L. Penris, Mrs. R. J. Izard, Mrs. James Izard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mason Jamison and Miss Ellie Vaughan, of Roanoke; Mrs. J. Coles Terry and Miss Terry, of W. Baker, of Richmond; and others.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Commodore William C. Whittle, of the Confederate States Navy, and a grandniece of the late Right Rev. F. W. Whittle, of the Diocese of Virginia. Through both father and mother, she is a lineal descendant of the Rev. Samuel Davies, the apostle of Presbyterianism in Virginia, and of the Indian princess, Pocahontas. Colonel Johnston is a law graduate of the University of Virginia. He is widely related throughout the State, and is at present a member of the staff of Governor William Hodges Mann.

Marriage Announced.
Cards have been received in Richmond announcing the marriage of Miss Helen Frances Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Morris, to Bernard Moore Jones, of this city, the ceremony having taken place on Wednesday, June 4, at the home of the bride's parents in Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are now on their honeymoon and after July 1, will be at home in Richmond. They have leased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pickett Lathrop on West Avenue, until the completion of their new residence.

Home Wedding.
Quantities of palm, roses and lilies of the valley decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Eanes, at 402 East Main Street, on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock for the marriage of their daughter, Lulu, to Henry Lewis Cupp, of Oakland Mills, Pa. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Morris, rector of Monumental Episcopal Church, before an altar of lilies

Fashion Reigns

The fashion of the present day demands that the complexion of the well-groomed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. To possess this necessary requirement invest at once in a bottle of and enjoy the charms that are so admired in a fashionable woman. Gouraud's Oriental Cream is a liquid powder far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whitens, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease, and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream has been in actual use for nearly three-quarters of a century. This is the surest guarantee of its superiority. If you will use it regularly, you will know why it has been popular for so many years. At Druggists and Department Stores.

Concerning Miss Murphy.
Miss Nell R. Lee Murphy, of Richmond, who was maid of honor on General Young's staff, will remain in Chattanooga for several weeks, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mahoney.

Miss Murphy is a brilliant young woman, and one of the most attractive and popular visitors in the city. She was introduced at the party by General Young, as "the wildest girl in Dixie." Miss Murphy is the daughter of E. P. Murphy, of the Twelfth Mississippi Regiment, and niece of Colonel John Murphy, of the First Brigade, Virginia.

Her paternal grandmother had five sons in the Confederacy. No battle of any importance was fought in Virginia that one of the sons didn't do valuable work.

At the veterans' ball the grand march was a beautiful feature. Miss Kate Daffan, with General Young, lead, and were followed by the women and officers of his staff. Miss Ann Henry, with Colonel H. C. Meyers; Mrs. Alexander White, with General R. P. Lake; Mrs. Z. C. Patten, Jr., with General Johnson, of Virginia; Miss Mildred White, with Major Harrell, of New Orleans; Mrs. Roy M. McKinney, with Colonel R. E. Bulling; Miss Fannie Roy Bachman, with Colonel Collins; Mrs. Charles R. Hyde, with General McFarland, of Memphis; Miss Eva D. Bachman, with Colonel Spurr, of Nashville; Miss Nell R. Lee Murphy, with General Cooke; Miss Frances Scholard, with Colonel J. Henry Krache; Miss Eugenia Caldwell, with Colonel Kyle.

Closing Musical.
One of the most artistic and charming musical events of the season took place in the V. M. C. A. Auditorium, Friday evening, May 3, the program being given by the pupils of all the classes of the Hequembourg School of Music. The program consisted of ensemble work by primary, intermediate, junior and advanced classes, and solos by pupils of each grade, so that the range of work done by the students of this school was clearly shown to the large, enthusiastic audience. Especially noticeable was the fact that these young students played with understanding, appreciation and real musical feeling the works of the old classic masters. Bach, Handel and Beethoven. Such a training in the knowledge and love of what is best in music is not to be underestimated.

Special mention must be made of the solos by little Miss Della Moore, Misses Mary Lackland, Eugene Heck, Katherine Thurston, Sam Shklar, and Sam Cowardin. Little Miss Moore played charmingly and from memory a "Minute" by Eichorn. Miss Heck gave evidence of the most thorough training in the "Meditation" from the opera, "Thais," by Massenet. An "Adagio" by Ries was played by Sam Cowardin with much feeling and beauty of tone, while Sam Shklar and Miss Mary Lackland, two junior students of the school, aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm by their brilliant technique, accurate rhythm, and excellent intonation. Both of these young people played difficult concertos from memory. Miss Katherine Thurston in "Zigeunerweisen" by Sarasate, demonstrated the results of four years of thorough conscientious work. Miss Thurston possesses more than ordinary ability, and that elusive something called temperament, and plays in a well-balanced and thoroughly artistic manner. Mention must be made of the
